About the author

Bas was born in a small city in Overijssel called Enschede.

After studying physical therapy and a dedicated life as a semi-professional triathlete he started the research master Fundamental and Clinical Human Movement Sciences at the Vrije Universiteit in Amsterdam. During this study the love for research was set in motion and resulted in finishing a PhD at ACTA.

He hopes that his curiosity and knowledge gained during the PhD will lead to a promising future, while meeting new people and seeing other parts of the world.
