About the author

Jennifer Coffeng was born on January 29th 1984 in Amsterdam, the Netherlands. After completing secondary school (VWO) at Laar & Berg in Laren in 2002, she started with her study Business Administration at the VU University in Amsterdam. After she graduated as a Bachelor of Business Administration in 2005, she continued studying at the faculty of Social Psychology. She finished her research master (two year) cum laude in Social Psychology in 2007. The same year she started with her master in Business Administration, which she finished in 2008. Shortly after graduation, Jennifer started in the framework of the Balance@Work study (an occupational health guideline to prevent workers' weight gain) as a research assistant at the EMGO+ institute for health and care research. In October 2009, she started with her PhD at the EMGO+ institute within the department of Public and Occupational Health on the (cost-) effectiveness of a social and physical environmental intervention to improve the need for recovery among office employees. The results of this project are presented in this thesis. During her PhD, she attended the Postgraduate Epidemiology Program at the VU University Medical Centre. Throughout the years, she had two working visits abroad: (1) CEDAR institute (Centre for Diet and Activity Research) in Cambridge, United Kingdom and (2) Department of Clinical Psychology, in Valencia, Spain.
