

VU Research Portal

Family Group Conferencing in Public Mental Health Care

de Jong, G.

2014

document version

Publisher's PDF, also known as Version of record

Link to publication in VU Research Portal

citation for published version (APA)

de Jong, G. (2014). Family Group Conferencing in Public Mental Health Care: A responsive Evaluation.

General rights

Copyright and moral rights for the publications made accessible in the public portal are retained by the authors and/or other copyright owners and it is a condition of accessing publications that users recognise and abide by the legal requirements associated with these rights.

- Users may download and print one copy of any publication from the public portal for the purpose of private study or research.
- You may not further distribute the material or use it for any profit-making activity or commercial gain
- You may freely distribute the URL identifying the publication in the public portal ?

Take down policy

If you believe that this document breaches copyright please contact us providing details, and we will remove access to the work immediately and investigate your claim.

E-mail address:

vuresearchportal.ub@vu.nl

The photo on the cover of this book was taken by the author at the Red Fort in Delhi (India) in 2008. It shows parts of a so-called Banyan Tree, also known as the Bodhi Tree where under Gautama Buddha according to the traditions found enlightenment. The Banyan Tree is symbolic to the content of this book. It stands for the clients and their social networks who in all their honesty shared their perceptions on the family group conference they took part in: as the aerial roots together they stand as strong in the ground, and although they all find their unique and distinctive ways they still work closely together ensuring the tree can survive for hundreds of years.
