CONTENT

1. General introduction

2. Part I Measuring quality of end-of-life care and quality of dying in dementia
   2. Measuring the quality of dying and quality of care when dying in long-term care settings: a qualitative content analysis of available instruments
   3. Psychometric properties of instruments to measure the quality of end-of-life care and dying for long-term care residents with dementia
   4. Selecting the best instruments to measure quality of end-of-life care and quality of dying in long term care

3. Part II Advance care planning and establishing a comfort care goal for patients with dementia
   5. Factors associated with initiation of advance care planning in dementia: a systematic review
   6. Factors related to establishing a comfort care goal in nursing home patients with dementia
   7. Association of a comfort care goal upon nursing home admission with quality of end-of-life care and quality of dying in patients with dementia
   8. Advance care planning in nursing home patients with dementia: A qualitative interview study among professional and family caregivers

9. General discussion

Summary
Nederlandse samenvatting
Dankwoord
About the author