

VU Research Portal

For Security Reasons

Duijnhoven, H.L.

2010

document version

Publisher's PDF, also known as Version of record

Link to publication in VU Research Portal

citation for published version (APA)

Duijnhoven, H. L. (2010). For Security Reasons: Narratives about Security Practices and Organizational Change in the Dutch and Spanish Railway Sector. VU University Press.

General rights

Copyright and moral rights for the publications made accessible in the public portal are retained by the authors and/or other copyright owners and it is a condition of accessing publications that users recognise and abide by the legal requirements associated with these rights.

- Users may download and print one copy of any publication from the public portal for the purpose of private study or research.
- You may not further distribute the material or use it for any profit-making activity or commercial gain
- You may freely distribute the URL identifying the publication in the public portal ?

Take down policy

If you believe that this document breaches copyright please contact us providing details, and we will remove access to the work immediately and investigate your claim.

E-mail address:

vuresearchportal.ub@vu.nl

Table of Contents

Preface

|  |    |
|--|----|
| 1 And Thus, the Story Begins... | 13 |
| It Happened On Board of the AVE...     | 13 |
| Socially Constructing Security         | 15 |
| Making Sense of Railway Security       | 17 |
| Capturing Local Meanings               | 22 |
| Discourses of Public Services          | 25 |
| Problem Statement and Outline          | 27 |

Part I: The Study

|   |    |
|---|----|
| 2 Making Sense of Security Discourses                | 33 |
| Introduction  | 33 |
| Discourse Analysis as a ‘Transdisciplinary’ Approach        | 35 |
| Sensemaking and the Discursive Construction of Events       | 42 |
| Security, Risk and Surveillance in Everyday Life            | 44 |
| Securitization of Public Discourses                         | 45 |
| Representations of the Railways in (Fictional) Literature   | 51 |
| 3 Fictionalizing Science: On Methods and Methodology | 55 |
| Introduction: the Interpretive Turn in the Social Sciences  | 55 |
| Methodology: Organizational Ethnography                     | 61 |
| Research Strategy: the Cases                                | 65 |
| Research Practices: the Fieldwork                           | 67 |
| Analysis: Iterative Inductive Interpretation                | 72 |
| Writing Practice and the Practice of Writing                | 74 |
| The Stories to Come: A Disclaimer                           | 82 |

Part II: The Narratives

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| 4 Renfe Operadora: Integrating Security                                  | 87  |
| En Route: From Atocha to the Security Department                                | 87  |
| From Renfe to Renfe Operadora: the End of an Era                                | 91  |
| The New Company: Where Do We Stand?   | 96  |
| Something Old, Something New  | 98  |
| Room for Negotiation  | 100 |
| 11-M as a Critical Event in the Development of Security in the Spanish Railways | 102 |

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| The Attacks   | 102 |
| 11-M and Railway Security                                   | 104 |
| Painful Memories  | 107 |
| Terrorism and the Spanish Railways                          | 108 |
| February 2007: Explosions in Lutzana                        | 109 |
| The Normalization of Threat?                                | 111 |
| 5 NS: A Concern for Security                         | 113 |
| NS and Personal Security                                    | 113 |
| Positioning The Security Department Within NS               | 115 |
| Towards the Separation of NS and ProRail                    | 117 |
| Security is a Societal Problem                              | 119 |
| A Question of Responsibility?                               | 121 |
| Talking About Security                                      | 122 |
| Service and Security: A Hot Topic                           | 125 |
| No Panic, It's Just a Backpack!                             | 128 |
| NS and Terrorism in the Netherlands                         | 130 |
| In the Line of Fire   | 131 |
| Stories From the Frontline: Workfloor Autobiographies       | 133 |
| Van Loon: Coping with Aggression and Violence               | 134 |
| Van der Meulen: Circling Around the Church                  | 135 |
| Lunenburg: Longing for the Past                             | 136 |
| Van Tuinen: The Disappearance of a Job                      | 138 |
| NS: Love to Hate It/Hate to Love It                         | 140 |
| 6 Service, Surveillance and Security                 | 141 |
| Railway Security: Operational Measures                      | 141 |
| 'I Had the Highest Number of Incidents'                     | 142 |
| '1,700 Passengers in Just Two Hours'                        | 152 |
| Surveillance, Enforcement and Service                       | 158 |
| 'To Report Incidents is Crucial'                            | 159 |
| 'Information is More Important Than Trust'                  | 162 |
| 'It 's Our Responsibility To Make the Passengers Feel Safe' | 163 |
| To Be Safe, To Be Monitored?                                | 167 |
| 'Go Back to Work, I Am Watching You'                        | 168 |
| 'Abuse of the System Will Be Punished'                      | 172 |
| 'A Pleasant Place'  | 177 |
| 'They Make Us Scan Our Index Finger'                        | 179 |
| On the Use of Camera Surveillance                           | 182 |
| Designing a Train   | 185 |
| In Retrospect   | 188 |

---

Part III: Interpretation and Conclusions

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| 7 The Quest for Security                                       | 191 |
| Discourses about (In)Security   | 191 |
| ‘Negotiating Security: the Battle of Experts’                         | 197 |
| Service Above All?  | 198 |
| Security and Professional Identity                                    | 200 |
| ‘Future (Im)Perfect: Where Do We Go From Here?’                       | 202 |
| The Netherlands and Spain in the European Railway Sector              | 203 |
| Translating the Grand Narratives of Public Sector Reform              | 205 |
| ‘In Control or Under Control: Towards a Security Utopia?’             | 210 |
| Is There Security in Numbers?   | 210 |
| And So This Story Comes to Its End                                    | 215 |
| 8 Telling Tales  | 223 |
| Fictionalized Research Narratives or Lies?                            | 223 |
| The Narratives: A Reflection  | 224 |
| The Contribution of a Narrative Approach                              | 229 |
| References   | 231 |
| Appendices   |     |
| Appendix 1: Organizational Chart Renfe Operadora 2005-2009     | 254 |
| Appendix 2: Institutional Relations in the Spanish Rail Sector | 257 |
| Appendix 3: Organizational Chart NS Holding 2006-2009          | 258 |
| Appendix 4: Institutional Relations in the Dutch Rail Sector   | 262 |
| Nederlandse samenvatting                                       | 263 |
| 1. En zo begint dit verhaal...  | 263 |
| 2. Betekenis geven aan vertogen over veiligheid                       | 264 |
| 3. Fictionaliseren van wetenschap: over methoden en methodologie      | 267 |
| 4. Renfe Operadora: veiligheid integreren                             | 269 |
| 5. NS: een concern voor veiligheid                                    | 270 |
| 6. Service, toezicht en veiligheid                                    | 270 |
| 7. De zoektocht naar veiligheid                                       | 271 |
| 8. Verhalen vertellen   | 272 |
| Curriculum Vitae   | 275 |