Acknowledgements

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to Prof. François Schellevis for having encouraged me taking this journey. Your advice and insightful comments were essential in every step of my research, as well as your continuous commitment to pose challenging questions and to guide me answering them. Without your supervision, this thesis would simply not have happened.

I feel greatly indebted to John Paget for supporting me over the years with enthusiasm, wisdom, patience, and good humour. Working on my Ph.D. has been a pleasant and intellectually stimulating journey: much of the credit is yours. You have been the most valuable of mentors and the most pleasant of travelling companions.

My sincere thanks also go to Clotilde El-Guerche Séblain: thank you for your trust and constant support, and for all of the inspiring discussions we have had over the years.

I am immensely grateful to my parents and grandparents, my sister and brothers and their families, my wife's parents and sisters and their families, my friends and all those who have trusted me: you are my rock and my wings, thank you all.

This thesis is especially dedicated to my wife Chiara, who is always close to me when I need her most. I will never be able to fully express my gratitude to you for having walked beside me, lovingly and patiently, throughout the journey.
