The sweet of a truly hard work

It has been a long journey. There are many people who have helped me travel down this road. Here, I would like to take the opportunity to express my gratitude to the following people who made the completion of this work in three different continents possible.

Dr. A. Bronckers. Dear Ton, thank you so much for believing me that I can do this. It was not easy in the beginning, yet I managed to come this far. This may never have happened without your help. I really appreciate your continuous support and the effort to always motivate me even when I was at the other side of the ocean. I hope this thesis pays off all your hard work in supervising me. It has been a pleasant 5 years working with you.

Prof.dr. V. Everts. Dear Vincent, thank you for being critical to me. Your criticism in a way always motivates me to do better each time. I enjoyed the fruitful discussions during our regular meetings. Thank you very much for all the sound advice and the encouragement.

Prof.dr. B.D. Tuinzing and dr. A.G. Becking. Dear Prof. Tuinzing and Eddy, thank you for the collaboration and for the opportunity to work in the hospital and to learn the clinical part of distraction osteogenesis. Although the studies presented in this thesis are somewhat different than initially planned on the horizontal distraction, I am very grateful for your continuous supports.

Dr. A. Jovanovic and Dr. F. Perdijk. Dear Andreas and Frits, I really counted on both of you for the surgical preparation of these studies. Thank you very much.

for the pleasant collaboration. I appreciate your dedication for this research and for being so supportive throughout.

For my paranymphs, Jolanda de Blieck and Marion van Duin. Thank you for your willingness to help with the preparation of my promotion. You both have given such a great help in the lab during this PhD and I really appreciate that. Dear Jolanda, thank you for all the cakes during ‘gezellig’ Monday morning meetings and for your positive energy (the memory of your laugh is still vivid till now!). Dear Marion, thank you for helping practicing Dutch during my early days in the lab, for your warm personality and for the friendship.

Ilara Zerbo and Clara Korstjens, my ex-roommates, thank you so much for setting the program for my measurements, for solving millions of microscope computer troubles and for your friendly advices.

I thank the company of and the conversations with my fellow students, Aviral Vatsa, Djien Tan, Marlene Knippenberg, Agnes Berendsen and Mel Bacabac. Many thanks for sharing the difficult and the good moments during this PhD.

I wish to thank all the colleagues at the Department of Oral Cell Biology for the pleasant work atmosphere, for the dagje-uit and for all the good times. Wan Goei and Dirk-Jan Bervoets for the help in preparing the tissue sections. Cor Semeins for his constant availability to help all sort of things in the lab. I am especially grateful for your help in the cell culture. Paulien Holzmann for helping me with different techniques in the lab. Ton Schoenmaker for showing me how to use the real time PCR analysis and for his good sense of humor. Behrouz Zandieh Doulabi for the primers. Don Lyaruu for his computer expertise that rescued many of the important files on my computer.
Mrs. I. Vroonland. Dear Irene, thank you very much for being so attentive and friendly to me and for making the work atmosphere in the hospital more pleasant. I am very happy to hear that you are enjoying your off-work time traveling around the world. Thank you for your interest in my country and I hope you will visit me one day.

I am indebted to dr. L.W. Fisher, for opening the door to the NIDCR - NIH for me. I could not have asked for a better place to perform experiments of the SIBLING proteins. I really admire your never-ending energy to help other scientists. Thank you very much for all the time, supports and advice you have given me.

I am also thankful to many people in the NIDCR especially at CSDB for the technical assistance, the encouragement and the friendship. It is a great honour to have the opportunity to learn their cutting edge research. My thanks go to dr. Pamela Robey, dr. Marian Young, Li Li, Nancy, my roommate Tina Kilt “supermom”, Junji and Fumi Mineshiba, Dee Mcknight and Zofia von Marschall.

I am grateful to the late prof.dr. Theo van Eijden and dr. Lars Mulder for the help with the microCT, for critical reading of my manuscript, for the valuable discussions and for the warm hospitality during my visit to the Department of Functional Anatomy.

Prof.dr. E. Burger. Dear Els, thank you for the opportunity to start working in your lab when you were still in Amsterdam. Although we have only met for a short period of time, you have influenced me through your enthusiasm for research.

I would also like to thank dr. Gang Li (Queen’s University Belfast, Northern Ireland, United Kingdom) and Prof.dr. Satoru Toyosawa (Dept. Oral Pathology, Osaka University, Osaka, Japan) for their collaboration, support and advice.
I am thankful to Prof. dr. I. van der Waal for the opportunity to work in his department and for his support.

Dr. Hendra Hidayat, many thanks for the encouragement during the finalization of this PhD.

Cecilia and Ken Tanaka, thank you for being a very nice couple to meet in Hilversum. I am very grateful for your helping hand, for all the supports and for the delicious Indonesian and Japanese cuisines. I wish the very best for your beautiful family.

Last but not least, I would like to thank my family. My parents-in-law dr. Widodo Soeprapto and Mrs. Mawar el Yasmin for their kind souls. My thanks also go to Ayu - for her listening ear and for her superb cooking skills-, Scott, Zachary, Rini, Joky and baby Elletje. To my brothers and sisters, Ari Ibnu Fajar, Miranda, Rima Irwinda, Mohamad Taufan and my dearest Humairaa for their love, for making me feel special at home and for always be there for me no matter what. A very special thank to my husband Reza Anglingkusumo for his love, for sharing a wonderful life and journey together. I may not have been able to finish this work without his support. Terima kasih banyak ya bubu…! Finally, I give my deepest gratitude to my beloved parents, my father, the late Amir Rivai, whose opinion I always admired, to whom I really wish I could hand in this book, and to my mother, Ida Ruslita Amir for her unconditional love, support and prayers. To my parents I dedicate this book.
