Table of contents

Chapter 1  General introduction
Chapter 2  Attitudes, beliefs and knowledge regarding breast, cervical and colorectal cancer screening: A scoping review
Chapter 3  The Dutch public are positive about the colorectal cancer-screening programme, but is this a well-informed opinion?
Chapter 4  Why are the public so positive about colorectal cancer screening?
Chapter 5  Do people with a different goal-orientation make different decisions about colorectal cancer-screening participation?
Chapter 6  Decision-making styles in the context of colorectal cancer screening
Chapter 7  Autonomous and informed decision-making in real life: The case of colorectal cancer screening
Chapter 8  General discussion and conclusion
  - Summary
  - Nederlandse samenvatting
  - Dankwoord
  - List of publications
  - About the author