REFERENCES

– 691.
Greenberg, J. (1994). Using socially fair treatment to promote acceptance of a work site Papers 2015 no. 91.*
for environmental protection. Law & Policy, 21(1), 49 – 76.
collector: Using natural field experiments to enhance tax compliance. *Journal of Public compensation and firm performance on financial misrepresentation. *Organization compliance enforcement strategies for sole proprietors. *Contemporary Accounting Healy, P.M. (1985). The effect of bonus schemes on accounting decisions. *Journal of Healy, P.M. & Wahlen, J.M. (1999). A review of the earnings management literature and coercive and legitimate power of tax authorities by concurrently diminishing or

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First, I want to thank my supervisors Jacco, Henri, and Juan. Jacco, if it wasn’t for you, I would never have become an academic. I am so grateful you invited me six years ago to discuss the possibility of joining the doctoral program. I cannot thank you enough for encouraging me to get the best out of myself. Your feedback and econometric knowledge has helped to become a better researcher. Henri, you have contributed significantly to my development as a scholar. Your feedback has taught me plenty, encouraged me to be creative, and to find solutions to the problems I encountered. I also want to thank you for the fun time we had in Chicago and Melbourne. Juan, I want to thank you for advising me, and taking time for me whenever I was desperate and needed help. Your positivity and optimism have been so inspiring. Overall, I have always been really happy with our research team, and I hope that we can work on many more successful projects in the future. I also want to thank the AFM for sharing the data that made the projects possible. I specifically want to thank all employees that were (in)directly involved in the projects. Your practical insights and knowledge about the setting contributed considerably to the development of the dissertation. Furthermore, I want to thank all the colleagues at the department of Accounting. To Susanne for all the time we spend together, it would not have been the same without you. To Mariëtte, for all the fun we had and our great conversations on our common (research) interests. To Oscar and Malte, for your optimism and jokes. To Sabine for being an example of a great teacher, and for always encouraging me to become a better person. To Paul for the gezelligheid. To Frits for helping me with teaching. And to all others who have supported me throughout the process. A special thank you goes to the Accounting faculty of the University of Melbourne for providing me with the opportunity of a research visit. I had a wonderful time and learned a lot. Last but not least, I want to thank my mom, dad, brother, Jim, Lisa and all other family and friends that always believed in me throughout this process. I could not have made it without your love and support, and I am forever grateful to have you near me.
ABRI DISSERTATION SERIES

38. Szabo, A. (2019). The adoption of governance practices in hospitals: The role of multi-level frames of board members in making decisions about practice adaptation
40. Günther, W. A. (2019). Data as strategic resources: Studies on how organizations explore the strategic opportunities of data